PLOTZ! @ Club Tropical

Club

Performance

dnlrnsbm

PLOTZ! will be performing a two-set show at Club Tropical in Los Angeles's Culver City. Club Tropical features the best Salvadorian food in Los Angeles, and is a beautiful sounding space. The show starts at 8 and will conclude by 11, at which point the Club DJ will take over and the dancing will begin. This is a show not to be missed!

PLOTZ!, the electro-gypsy neotrad-dance band, jams on fast-paced, intense arrangements of sideways-groovin, traditional Balkan party tunes that rock! Mystical, crude, frenetic, beautifully strange yet inviting rhythms...make you drink beer and dance and sweat...

Daniel Rosenboom, trumpets, levitating and playing in tongues, expels angel and demon alike by way of his ritual horns of gold. Jake Vossler, guitars, incinerates electric and acoustic guitars alike, knows all those crazy melodies, and solos like he hit an artery. Orest Balaban, bass, desperately attempts to keep PLOTZ! grounded in local space/time, for your safety and enjoyment. Austin Wrinkle, drumset, dramatically summons forth an assortment of criminally insane rhythms...rolls them...and smokes 'em.

Writer Rod Smith declares, "Roll over Martin Denny, and tell Yma Sumac the news: Charles Lazarus has supplanted you both and then some. Informed by classical music and jazz (as well as life itself), the Minneapolis-based trumpet virtuoso's far-ranging exotica eschews cheap theatrics in favor of solid composition and the kind of self-assurance that skews toward eloquent understatement, evoking myriad realms every bit as pregnant with possibility as the one we inhabit."

Don't miss this chance to hear music from Charles's highly acclaimed cd Solo Settings, plus newly minted selections destined for the next cd! Joining Charles onstage: Craig Hara - percussion, Tommy Barbarella - keyboards, & Jeff Bailey - bass.
